ABSTRACT (see samples at http://www.agts.edu/dmin/project/index.html)	vi
--	----

“The dissertation abstract is simply a brief summary of the results of the dissertation research. By summarizing the results of the research, it allows others to get an idea of what was accomplished without having to read through the entire dissertation. Students or researchers can read a dissertation abstract to determine if looking at the full dissertation will be worthwhile. The abstract can often provide enough information about the results of research that examining the full dissertation is not necessary.”
(<http://custompapers.com/essays-articles/dissertation-abstract/>)

Suggestion for the one-page abstract: first paragraph - explain the problem, second paragraph - explain what you did about it, third paragraph - discuss the results/impact, fourth paragraph - the implications of those results, and fifth paragraph - the recommendations based on the results.

The Context (Brief description of the ministry context in which you serve)

The Problem [or] The Opportunity (What needs changing in that context?)

The Purpose (How this project will address the problem/opportunity)

Definition of Terms (Unique terms specific to this project)

Description of Proposed Project (How you intend to accomplish the purpose. This description deals with scope and phases and will be in the future tense, as it is your proposed project.)

Scope of the Project (The “fine print” of the contract. Details the positive aspect—what you will do and the negative aspect—what you will not do; deals with any limiting factors and what is within your control. Try to ensure here that the project is achievable and verifiable. Also address where the project will occur, when, with whom, and what resources you’ll use, and how the results will be evaluated.)

Phases of the Project (description of steps and timetable)
